

Masonry Tools and Equipment

Parts of a Trowel

Philadelphia Pattern

- The Blade has a square heel
- Can make buttering easier

London Pattern

- The blade has a sharply angled heel

Types of Trowels

Brick

All purpose trowel used for cutting, buttering, and adjusting units.

Types of Trowels

Pointing

Fits into tight places. Used to point, grout, and tool joints.

Types of Trowels

Margin

Used to smooth joints and mix grout.

Types of Trowels

Duckbill

Has a long narrow blade and is used primarily for clean-up

Types of Trowels

Tuckpointer

Used to shape mortar between joints.

Types of Trowels

Parging (Flat)

Used to apply a thin coat (parge)
Of mortar to masonry units.

Types of Trowels

Notched

Used to spread adhesive for tile installation

Types of Hammers

Brick Hammer

Used to drive nails or strike chisels and break, cut, or chip masonry material.

Types of Hammers

Mason's Mash

Used to strike chisels when cutting masonry units.

Types of Chisels

Brick set- as wide as the brick it cuts

Types of Jointing Tools

Brick Jointer

Used on the short vertical (head) joints.

Types of Jointing Tools

Sled Runner-
Used to tool
the bed joints

Types of Jointing Tools

Skatewheel Raker-
Used for bed joints.
Quickly forms neat
hole free joints.

Types of Jointing Tools

Hand Raker- used on joints the skate wheel raker will not reach

Mortar Pan

- Used to mix mortar.

Masonry Hoe

- Used to mix mortar and concrete.

Brick Tongs

- Used to carry brick.

Grout Bag

- Used to press mortar into mortar joints.

4 Foot Level

- Used to check level and plumb.

Torpedo Level

- Used to check level and plumb in tight spaces.

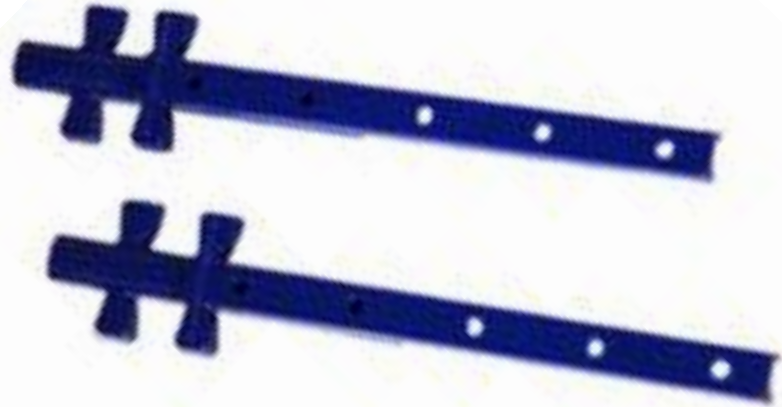

Line or Corner Blocks

- Used to hold mason's line in place on bricks and blocks.

Standard Line Stretches

- Used to hold mason's line in place on bricks and blocks.

Hawk

- Used to carry mortar.

Sliding T-Bevel

- Used to check and transfer angles.

Framing Square

Handheld Masonry Saw

Large Masonry Saw

Respiratory Protection must be used when cutting Masonry.

Masonry Splitter

Masonry Mixer

